Button & its Types

Buttons allow an optional attribute called "type", which is used to define the purpose of the button. The type attribute can take three values:-

Submit

```
<button type="submit">Button</button>
```

Button

2.Button

```
<button type="button">Button</button>
```

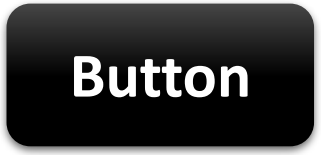
3.Reset

```
<button type="reset">Button</button>
```

No type

```
<button>Button</button>
```



When the type attribute is missing, the button behaves as a submit button.
